THE STREET OF STARS Is what they call Hollywood Boulevard in the magic city of Cineland. Under the shady palms of the film capital they stroll nonchalantly by on that main stem which splits talkie town into two distinct parts. Few there are who can visit Hollywood, but that street of stars which is known to actors of screen and stage as "the boulevard" is brought very near to the theatre-goers of Jefferson City. Those scintillating members of the film firmament come down to earth on the screens of the local show houses. What a powerful influence the moving picture has. Yesterday it flickered silently into our lives. Today it talks and millions listen eagerly to the sound of its thrilling voice. Jefferson City will see and hear a glittering constellation of stars during the Greater Show Season which is ushered in with the brand new year of 1934!

The Dubinsky Brothers' MILLER THEATRE Presents As Its Contribution to the New and Greater Show Season a Series of Outstanding Productions "DINNER AT EIGHT"—with the most important cast ever presented in a motion picture. "SITTING PRETTY"—a gay, happy musical with Jack Oakie, Jean Haley, Ginger Rogers and a host of favorites. "LITTLE WOMEN" by Louis M. Alcott—considered by critics as one of the most important pictures of the year. "SONS OF THE DESERT"—Laurel and Hardy's latest and full length comedy—with Charley Chase. "MASSACRE"—a dramatic triumph with Richard Barthelmess featured. "THE SON OF KONG" a sequel to "King Kong." "THE RIGHT TO ROMANCE"—with Ann Harding, Nils Asther and important supporting cast. "THE INVISIBLE MAN"—H. G. Well's greatest thriller. "FLYING DOWN TO RIO"—the season's most sumptuous and elaborate musical comedy, featuring a cast of stage and screen stars. THESE PRODUCTIONS INDEED PROVE THAT A NEW ERA OF EYE AND EAR ENTERTAINMENT IS IN STORE FOR THE "MOVIE GOERS" OF JEFFERSON CITY.
